Mayor Gaynor's Return To Work After Shooting

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

After an absence of nearly two months Mayor Gaynor of Greater New York returned to the city hall to take up his official duties. It was on the morning of Aug. 9 that the mayor was shot by James J. Gallagher, a discharged city employee, as he was bidding friends farewell on board the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse as he was about to sail for a month's vacation in Europe. As soon as possible after the shooting the mayor was conveyed to a hospital in Hoboken, N. J., where his life was for a time despaired of, and citizens of New York waited breathlessly for news from the wounded man's bedside. After a few weeks he was able to return to his country home on Long Island, where he remained until well enough to return to the city hall. During Mayor Gaynor's absence John Purroy Mitchell, president of the board of aldermen, was acting mayor and startled the people of the city by his crusades against vice, resulting in the indictment of a score of gamblers and several police officers. He also demanded the removal of Police Commissioner Baker. These are but a few of the many troubles that the convalescent mayor must settle now that he is once more at work. Gallagher, the mayor's assailant, is still in jail in the New Jersey town.

A LETTER TO PROPERTY TAX-PAYING VOTERS

Palestine, Texas, Oct. 25, 1910.
Dear Sir:—

An election will be held in this county November 8th, as you, no doubt, are already aware, to determine whether we shall vote a special tax of 15 cents for road purposes. Whether you favor such tax or not may depend upon how the commissioners' court propose to use the funds thus to be raised. That there may be no misunderstanding, we are addressing you this letter, assuring you what shall be the plan adopted by the court if the tax carries.

A majority of the court recognizes the fact that the present road system is a failure. We propose to change the system. If the tax carries we will have the legislature, by special act, amend our road law by cutting out everything pertaining to overseers and free labor road work. As you very well know, road overseers do not keep the roads properly worked; road hands do not work when warned out like they work for themselves or for pay. Where overseers and hands are willing to work, they have not suitable tools and teams. The county cannot furnish them, because there is no way to have them taken care of. Overseers cannot be selected with reference to qualifications. It therefore happens very often that an overseer spoils his road because he does not understand working it. Then, too, this is an age of specialists. The farmer, the farm-laborer, the country merchant and blacksmith have not the time and incentive to study road-making. In our judgment it will be better to have the roads worked by those who are in the road-making business.

Instead of the road overseer and his hands, we will have the special act provide that each person now subject to work on the roads ten full days in each year shall pay a road poll tax of $2.50 or $3.00 and be entirely exempt from road duty. This requirement, it seems, is only justice to the man who has served out his time of road service, and surely such a one cannot object to this change, because the fund thus to be raised will work twice as much road as is now done.

With the fund raised by the special 15 cent tax and the road poll tax, we propose to place a road working crew, properly equipped with teams and machinery, in each commissioners' precinct, to be kept there all the time. These crews will grade the roads, section by section. When the grading of a section is completed it will be let out to some one by contract, who shall be under bond to keep the road dragged and in constant repair.

We now have two road crews at work all the time, but the failure to work after them and thus preserve the work causes it to be wasted and the road ruined. This trouble, under the plan proposed, will be done away with. There will be no necessity for the road crew to double back and work the same road until they have graded all the roads of the county. When this is done all the time can be devoted to surfacing the roads with clay and rock.

If you recognize the value of better highways, if you feel the burden of our bad roads, and the plan here outlined appeals to you as offering a possible improvement, then suppose we try it? Go out to the polls on November 8th and vote for the special tax.

Respectfully,
O. C. Tunderbark,
County Judge.
